New York Meeting to Discuss Problems.

WESTERN COMBINATION A TOPIC.

Prospective Effort to Overcome Animosity to Consolidation Plan-Call Issued by Harriman, Hill and Gould.

NEW YORK Dec 4-The presidents of all the Western railroads have been called to meet today for a conference in this city, and the meeting is regarded as the most important and significant of its kind that has ever been held.

Questions of traffic and rates and the best means of preserving the rates in the West are not the only problems that will come before the conference

Consolidation Matter.

The formation of the Northern Securities Company, the consolidation of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington systems thus accomplished and the antagonism which the deal has aroused in the Northwest, leading to legal proceedings and adverse legislative action, will form a special topic, and if reports are true, the most important sub ject to be considered by the conference. To Overcome Antagonism.

Antagonism to railroad combination is so manifest in the West that the question of how best to accomplish such combinations when desired will be the prime question discussed at the meeting sched-

The meeting today is to be devoted to preliminary work and the minor questions, but the question of the Northern Securities' charter and its alleged de-

Source of the Call.

The call for the meeting was issued by E. H. Harriman, James J. Hill, and George J. Gould. These three men represent the greater part of the mileage of the West-ern roads, the Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Burlington, and Missouri Pacific systems.

The question of arriving at an agreement on rates is not so urgent at the present time, as the recent big deal has brought so many of the reads under one to P. A. Valentine, one of the executors of her first husband's estate and an influential partner in the firm of Armour & Co. The wedding will take place on the ast Wednesday in April, in this city. Five years ago Mr. Valentine lost his wife, who was Miss Helen Henderson, a prominent Chicago society girl. A year later his business en the Stock Exchange went to pieces and he was obliged to ask his friend, Philip D. Armour, jr., for a position with the Armours. His ability brought him to the front again and he won back the millions he had lost.

Mrs. Armour is noted as a woman of extraordinary beauty. Before her marriage, she was Miss May Lester, daughter of John T. Lester, a board of trade operator. She has two children, Philip D., 3d, and Lester Armour, both ef whem wife, who was Miss Helen Henderson, a

At any rate, I must do something; so I quit drinking coffee altogether and took on Poettym and also began the use of Grane. Postum, and also began the use of Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food. In a short time Nuts Breaklast rood. In a short time I began to enjoy life again. Found myself running up stairs two steps at a time, and a general return of energy, ambition and strength. I not only regained my eighteen pounds, but put seven more on top of it. Now we always have Grape-Nuts and Postum each meal. The children drink the Food Coffee as well as wile and myself, and I will guarantee there is no healthier famil, in New York. Phil M. Farley, 190 Williams St., New York."

GENERAL HAZEN DEAD.

An Attack of Nervous Prostration Proves Fatal.

Gen. A. D. Hazen, ex-Assistant Postmaster General, died at 10:30 o'clock last night at his residence, 1221 L Street northwest General Hazen had been in very poor health for the past three years. The im-mediate cause of his death is not known, but is supposed to have been a severe attack of nervous prostration.

Funeral services will be held tomorro at 4 o'clock, after which the remains will be conveyed to Mount Bethel, Northampton County, Pa., for interment.

General Hazen was born sixty-one year ago and celebrated his thirty-sixth wedling anniversary the 15th of last month. He entered the Postoffice Department many years ago as a $1,200 clerk, and was promoted to chief of the Division of Postage Stamps. July 1, 1877, he was appointed, under Postmaster Ceneral David M. Key, Third Assistant Post paster General, under which appointment he served until April 1, 1887. He was reappointed March 18, 1889, and served through Harrison's Administration, retiring from official life May 19, 1893. After leaving public life he became an attorney and had been fiscal agent in

MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL PLANS.

Programme Arranged for the Competition of Architects.

As a result of the conference between the District Commissioners and Mr. Edchitect, last week, the programme of competition for the plans of the proposed municipal hospital building has been prepared, and is now ready for distribution. The main features of the programm are that the preliminary plans or sketches for the proposed buildings shall be submitted to the District Commissioners not later than February 8, 1902.

These sketches will not be accompanied with any detail drawing, but shall be pre-liminary plans only. From them, the pro-gramme announces, the Commissioners and their professional adviser will select three plans, the makers of which will be required to submit detail drawings.
